LoveAdInfinitem (#5-2021)

#loveadinfinitemjohnbead #loveadinfinitemntaj

[Let's make lots of Loves and connect 'em all together to form a rainbow of aluminum wire amazingness! This project will teach you a quick wire lettering technique [with the right pattern] and how to translate word elements into a stable linked necklace! Use all the colors to ring your neck or pick your fave for a single profession of the sentiment! And don't forget to dot your O's with stunning Preciosa crystal 'cause there's nothing like a little glimmer to make a girl feel special!]

Directions

Form the Love Elements

1. Cut one 10" length of 18g. wire in each color.
2. Lay the LoveAdInfinitem pattern down and form each letter of the word by following the lines of the Bit-O-Love Setup, bending and looping as you go.
3. Cut where indicated and round each end of each length with a needle file or wire rounder.
4. Flatten and harden the element with a nylon hammer and bench-block. [Note: Be gentle when pounding the wire intersections.]

Adorn the Love Elements

1. Cut one 1 ¼" length of 18g. wire in each color.
2. Form a small plain loop to one end and load a single crystal onto the wire.
3. Bend the wire tail down against the bead and trim to 3/8".
4. Form a second plain loop with the remaining tail wire.
5. Orient the loops so that they are parallel to each other on either side of the bead.
6. Open and close each loop around the frame of the "O" at the 2 and 7 o'clock positions. [Note that the 7 o'clock position should capture both wires.]

Form the RockABye CradleLinks

1. Cut one 7" length of 12g. wire in each color.
2. Lay the RockaBye CradleLink pattern down and form each link by following the lines of the Large CradleLink Setup bending and looping as you go.
3. Cut where indicated and round each end of each length with a needle file or wire rounder.
4. Flatten and harden the element with a nylon hammer and bench-block.

Attach the Love Elements to the CradleLinks

1. Cut one 7" length of 18g. wire in each color.
2. Center and hold the Love element atop the CradleLink of the same color in your right hand and add-in all but two inches of the binding wire.
3. With your left hand, wrap tightly twice around the CradleLink only just to the left of the Love element.
4. Then, continue wrapping to the right, around and through the bottom loop of the L; twice more to the CradleLink [only skipping past the "O" and toward the "V"]; once around the bottom of the "V"; once around the bottom of the "E" and twice just past the word.
5. Trim the ends close and tighten the binding wire around the link, burnishing the ends so as to prevent snagging or lifting.

Directions

Form the JumpRings

1. Cut a 1" length of each color of 12g. wire (or simply work off the coil).
2. Form a single jump ring by wrapping the wire length around the largest part of a round nosed pliers to form a ring [you'll want about an ¼" inner diameter], overlapping the ends. Continue to form all seven.
3. Cut each jump ring where it intersects with a semi-flush cutter.
4. File to form butted ends, if necessary.
5. Hammer each to harden and slightly flatten.

Assemble the Necklace [Note: This necklace is claspless.]

1. Arrange the links in a circle in the Roy G. Biv rainbow order [or as desired].
2. Open and close a single jump-ring around two adjacent link loops, making sure the links all read and are oriented correctly. [Note: I used the same color jump-ring as the link to the left.]
3. Continue until all the links are connected and the last link connects to the first.
