Beading Thread, such as Wildfire or Fireline

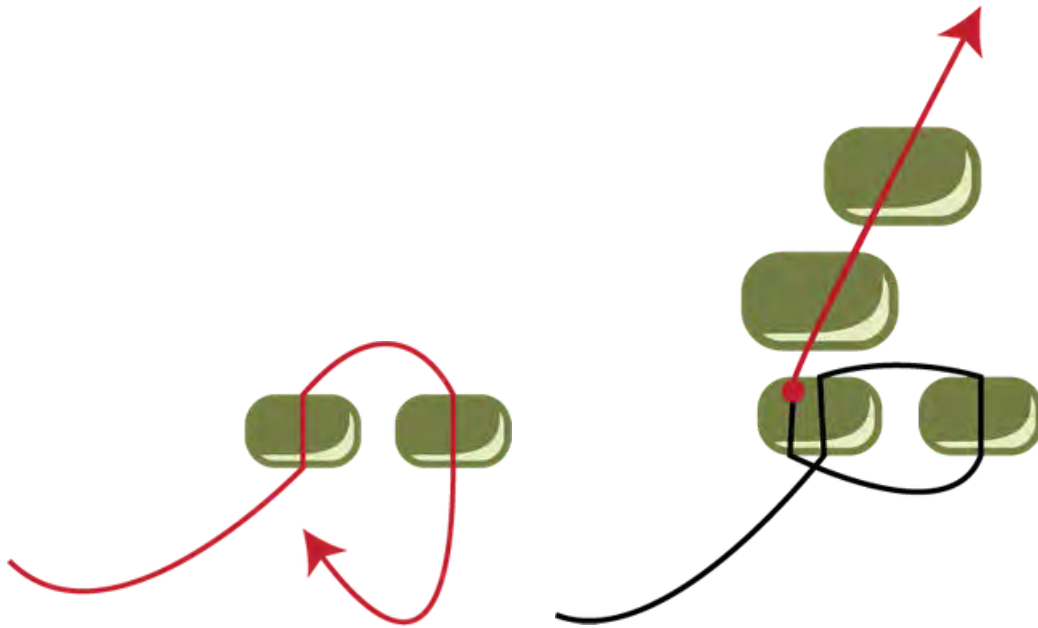

Beading Needle, Size 10 hard beading needle

Thread Snips or Burner

Chain Nose Pliers

Bent Nose Pliers

Cut 40 inches of thread and thread a beading needle. Pick up two size 10 beads. Go through the first bead added.

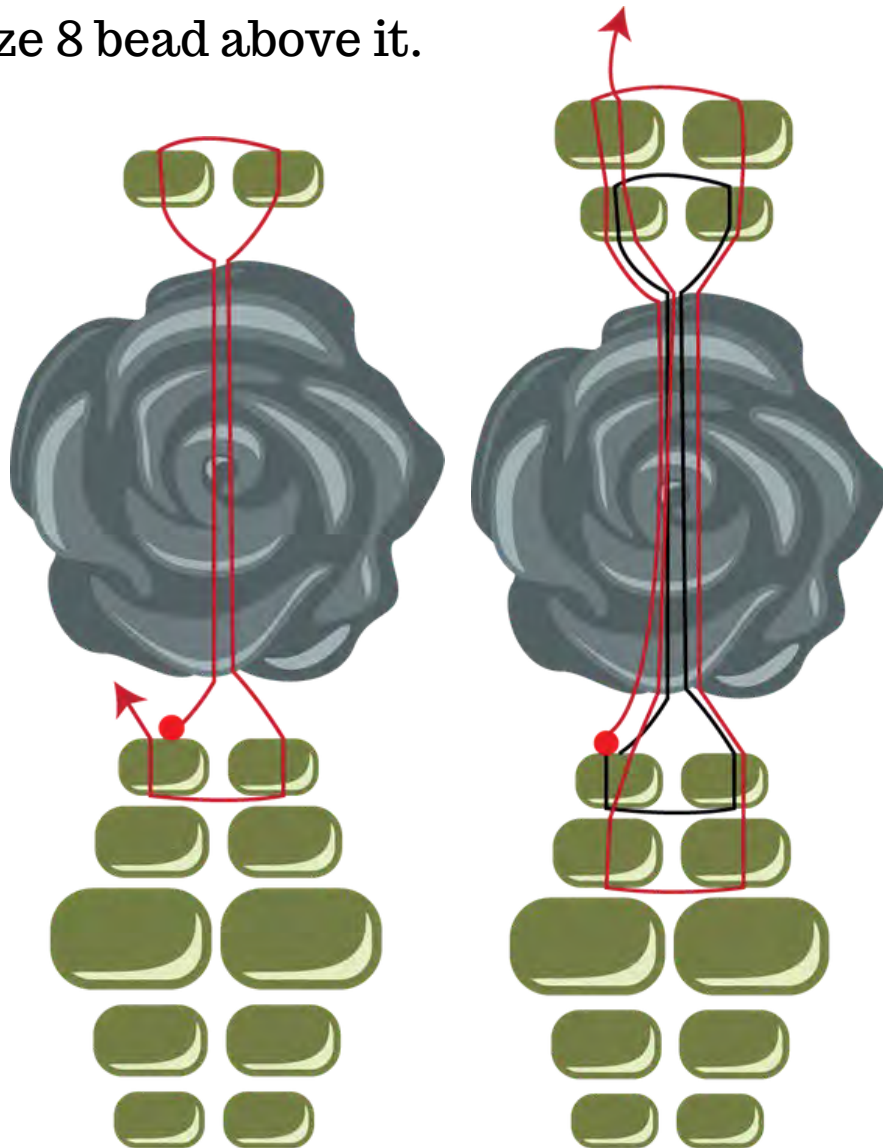

Pick up two size 8 beads. Loop through the size 10 bead below, then come back up through the first size 8 bead added. Repeat with size 6 beads.

Add a Single Focal Bead

Exiting from a 10/0 bead, go through your focal bead and pick up two, size 10 beads. Go back through the focal bead and loop through the size 10 beads below it.

Pick up two size 8 beads. Go through the size 10 bead below, continue through the focal bead and the size 10 bead below it. Loop around the size 8 beads. Come up through the size 10 bead, the focal, a size 10 bead above and the size 8 bead above it.

Add Multiple Focals

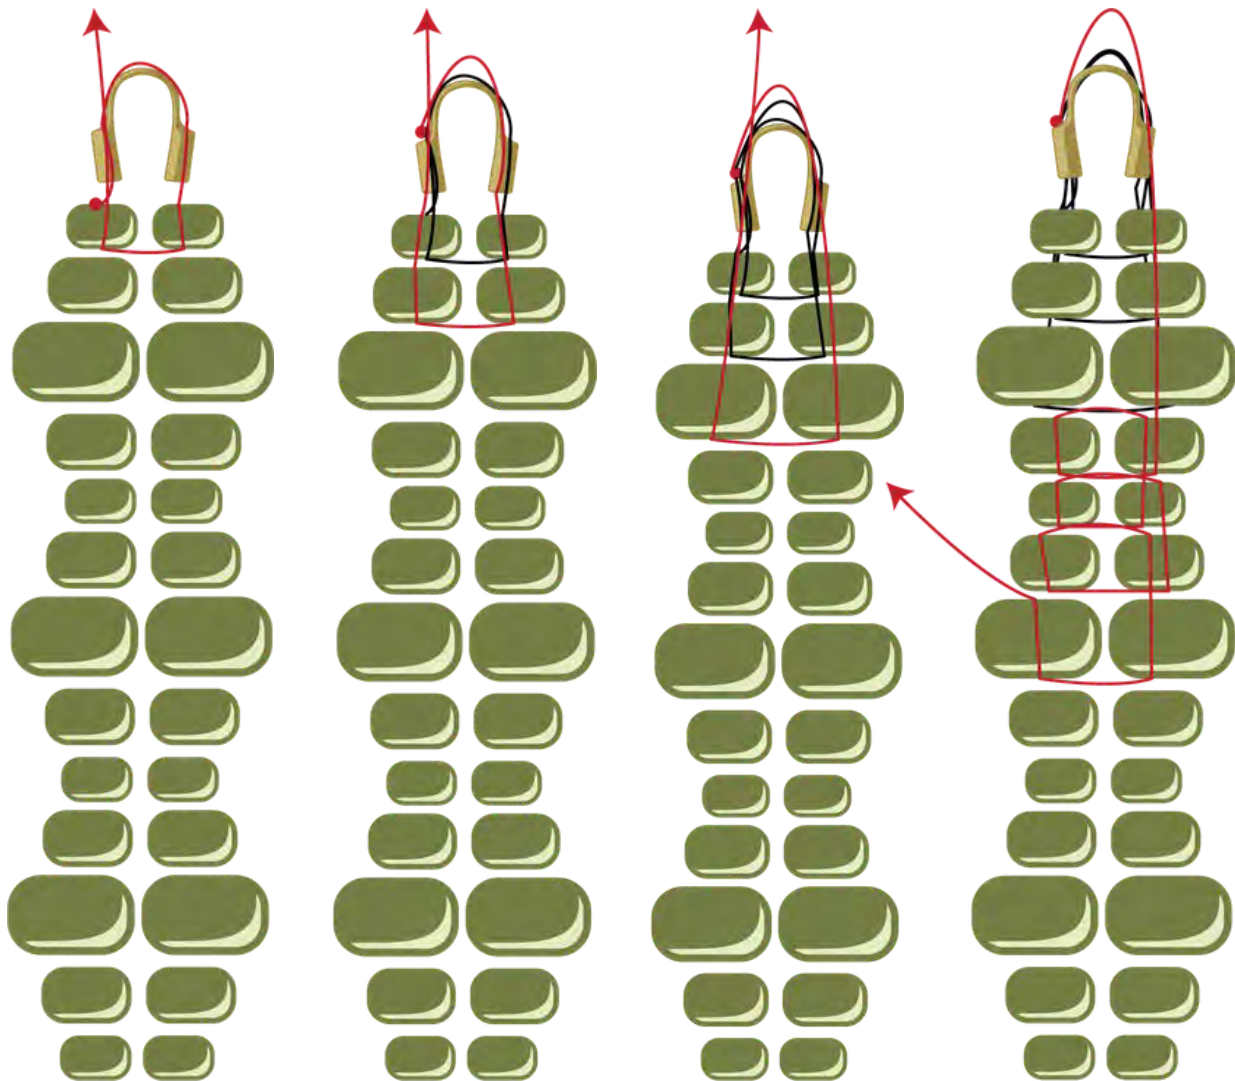

The process to add multiple focals is the same, just treat all the beads as one bead. Starting from the size 10 bead, [pick up a size 10 bead and a focal bead] three times, then pick up three size 10, go back through the first size 10 added after the last focal bead, and continue through all the beads. Loop around the size 10 beads below the bottom focal and come back up through all beads, exiting from a size 10 bead.

Add Wire Guardians to each side

Exiting from a size 10 bead, go through and around the wire guardian. Go through the size 10 bead below and loop around.

Go through the wire guardian again. Continue through the size 10 and size 8 bead below. Loop around, coming back up through the adjacent 8 bead and the 10 above it. Go through the wire guardian again. Repeat through the size 6 beads. Weave in and trim thread.

Add the Clasp, Chain, and Embellishments

Open a medium oval jump ring and attach the lobster clasp to the top wire guardian.

Use the small oval jump rings to attach the hemetite flowers, connected by large oval jumps.

Use your head pin to wire wrap the tiny flower and, using the small oval jump ring, attach it to the medium oval jump ring.
