GUIDE TO FRINGE DISCS

Fringe Discs are the coolest way to make circular fringe earrings that lock in the position of each strand as you've designed it! Complete layered fringe patterns, cascades, and even drop a strand right down the center of the layers.

Two Sizes:

The 10mm Fringe disc gives you two, circular rows to stitch into. It will fit into any bead cap with a 10mm diameter interior.

The 8mm Disc has one, circular row to stitch into. It will fit into any bead cap with an 8mm diameter interior.

Make Fringe Easy

Bring your thread through a hole on the disc. String your first strand of fringe. Skip the last bead, then go back through all the beads and back through the hole in the disc. Tighten, then needle down through the next, adjacent hole in the disc. Repeat this step around. After the last fringe strand is completed, tie a double knot with the tail and remaining, working thread.

Select a headpin and insert it into the center hole of the disc. Bring the disc up through a bead cap. Finish the head pin with a simple or wrapped loop.

Great Tips

If you use an eye pin, you can complete an additional strand of fringe from the pin, and that strand will sit in the middle of the circle of strands stitched around it.

You can also suspend a chain from an eye pin, and drop a bead or a crystal on the end.

When working with the 10mm disc, it's easiest to complete the inside strands first.
